

Human Capital Development Reforming Managerial Actions

Nasser Fegh-hi Farahmand

Department of Management, Tabriz Branch, Islamic Azad University, Tabriz, Iran

farahmand@iaut.ac.ir

Abstract

Planning daintiness strategy implementation, which is leading the content-based approach, can identified as the determination of clear-cut behavioral actions in advance that results in successful organizational outcomes in the global marketplace. This paper about human capital development reform in managerial actions describes the corporate-wide approach to human capital development reform at actions. Policy is a part of human capital development reform. Human capital development reform, referring to the internal systematic approach of the organization's human capital development reform to strive for daintiness performance excellence, and policy referring to all those measures through which one creates and strengthens confidence and trust in outsiders, especially customers, towards the organization's abilities and products. The daintiness managers are those who inspire followers to transcend their own self-interests, and who are capable of having a profound and extraordinary effect on their followers. The paper reviews the daintiness strategy implementation, strategic control, daintiness metrics, and daintiness channels.

Keywords: human capital development reform, managerial actions